ASSIST: Advanced Security, Shooting & Incident Safety Training Practical active shooter and violence prevention training for people of all ages

What would you do if someone walked into your church, school, or business and started shooting?

How would you react if attacked on the street?

Indiscriminate violence occurs in our homes, offices, malls, schools, and churches; and it affects us all, men and women, young and old, countryside to inner-city. Unfortunately, ignoring the problem doesn't make it go away. Your best defense is preparation. But being prepared doesn't necessarily mean months of self-defense training. Learning a few simple defense techniques coupled with a basic understanding of violence countermeasures can help you avoid danger and escape harm.

“Active shooter training is like a seatbelt: aggravating and uncomfortable, and useless if not engaged before needed”

Jim Willis,
President, InDev Tactical

ASSISTSM (Advanced Security, Shooting, & Incident Safety TrainingSM), is a unique program that offers simple, commonsense defense skills that will improve your odds of surviving an attack and replace fear and anxiety with confidence and peace of mind. ASSIST helps you recognize potentially dangerous situations, avoid violence, and escape active shooter situations regardless of physical condition or other limitations.

Drawing on his Afghan experience managing security operations and training for the military, aid organizations, and development agencies, Jim Willis, President of InDev Tactical, created ASSIST to share and disseminate the essential practices used in combat conditions to ensure safe and successful outcomes and extract clients from “harm’s way”.

InDev has tailored ASSIST to meet the training needs of the general public and sector specific needs of schools, churches, hotels, gov’t facilities, utilities, agribusinesses, and corporations.
